Description

In the documentation of the coding guidelines (AppendixCodingGuidelines.xml) there is the word "Source" standing at the end of a paragraph, which is a kind of senseless, at least to me:

<para>As a special exception you may use variable names like <varname>$i</varname>, <varname>$j</varname> and <varname>$k</varname> for numeric indexes in <function>for</function> loops if it's clear what they mean on the first sight. But even then you should want to avoid them... Source</para>
