Description

1.2. Package Manager

UNKNOWN3 is a package-based system. In fact, UNKNOWN3 itself is just a package as well - but obviously an important one. Packages act as a container for many different purposes: Most of them contain PHP code which adds certain functionality

The Package Manager is in charge of downloading, installing, configuring and uninstalling packages and registers their components and resources.

Note

In its current form, the package manager only provides the basic functionality which is necessary to use packages and their components. More advanced features like installing or configuring packages are not implemented yet.

Shortcut: What you need to know

Currently ... nothing.
