Description

f:link.widget should have the possibility to make the links absolute and should be able to set controller etc of parentRequest to stay on the current page if <f:base> is in use. at the moment there are only relative links, right? there should also be a <f:from.widget> wich should clean the current widget config out of the subrequest. otherwise all widget get params will be added again and after 10 clicks on the form the uri will be more then allowed characters.
