Description

May 2th, protocol:

Markus from the editorial team has this task on his agenda.

We need some more helping hand who can get stuff done.
One first helper is Christian Händel.

January 23rd, protocol:

Boris created a first german draft <https://notes.typo3.org/p/helpinghands> which will be translated afterwards. Alain will have a look at the german text.

The editorial team also created a campaign for helping hands in general and Marcus Oberndörfer will contact each team regarding this.

November 21st, protocol:

We have the following tasks for which we could need help:

- go to events and represent TYPO3
- write blog posts for T3BLOG
- manage PSL and case studies
- maybe also articles

It could be an idea to be present at T3Camps and ask for help. We will also mention our need of helping hands within our news article about this meeting. And Boris (the editorial team) will write an article about it.

It could also be an idea to directly ask agencies.

We also need to create a campaign to get helping hands for all TYPO3 teams. Then we need something like a job offer portal. We have to make sure that the team leaders are aware of it and it's possible to contact the team leaders. If someone is not sure in which team he/she might fit there should also be a general form where people can write about themselves and ask which team might be the right one.

Long term goal: Get more people inside the teams.

Hi Alain,

afaik you wanted to take a look at the german version of the text.
Could please give me a short feedback on it, so we can proceed translating it.

Thanks a lot.

Best regards,

Boris
