Description

The $roleRepository is set "manually" in initializeRolesFromPolicy() - only if caches are outdated. But the $roleRepository is needed even if the caches are up to date, so this breaks (one way to see the effect is to try and create a Neos user on the CLI).

[BUGFIX] Initialize $roleRepository correctly

The $roleRepository is set "manually" in initializeRolesFromPolicy() - only if caches are outdated. But the $roleRepository is needed even if the caches are up to date, so this breaks.

This change moves the initialization outside the check.
