[TASK] Activate all packages in unit tests

Introduce a new package manager class for unit tests that does not read the PackageState.php file any more but scans for packages and activates them, so that the class loader can find the classes of all extensions even if the according extension is not active in the current TYPO3 installation.

Since the unit test bootstrap does not read other extension files (ext_localconf.php, etc.) any more, we can be sure that this does not introduce any further side effects.

Since the PackageStates.php file will then be obsolete, it will be removed from the travis integration repository.
