Hi Helmut,

I followed instructions found on this page: <http://composer.typo3.org/>

It's not a problem for me removing this maintainer of course, but did I misunderstand what is written there or is this (now) wrong?

- Status changed from New to In Progress

- Assignee set to Xavier Perseguers

- % Done changed from 0 to 50

Removed from packagist, possibly waiting for feedback for the source of misinformation.

Sorry, I did not know about the fact that the instructions are like that and that some kind of sync is implemented for git.typo3.org to packagist in a way that requires typo3 to be maintainer of third party packages.

I can only say that I dislike the fact that it looks like the official typo3 project (represented by the typo3 user on packagist) "maintains" third party packages.

I created a ticket that hopefully reaches the maintainer(s) of composer.typo3.org where I explained my point of view:

- % Done changed from 50 to 100

Perfectly fine, fully agree with what you wrote there. BTW, maintainer/initiator of composer.typo3.org is Fabien Udriot.
