Description

The PackageManager was originally backported from Flow but includes too many classes and options that the Core does not use or cannot use at all.

The Package code is thus merged with only the parts needed for the TYPO3 Core, and adapted accordingly. All Flow classes are either removed or merged into the needed Package classes of the TYPO3 Core.

In order to speed up the bootstrap and prepare for tight composer integration, this task needs to be sorted out first.

[!!!][TASK] Simplify PackageManagement / Remove Flow

The PackageManager was originally backported from Flow but includes too many classes and options that the Core does not use or cannot use at all.

The Package code is thus merged with only the parts needed for the TYPO3 Core, and adapted accordingly. All Flow classes are either removed or merged into the needed Package classes of the TYPO3 Core.

In order to speed up the bootstrap and prepare for tight composer integration, this task needs to be sorted out first.

Next step is to further cleanup code within the Package* classes themselves - things that are not called at all in the TYPO3 Core.
