Description
Hello,
I have a parent record with translated records in list module. If you click on the pastebin-icon the record will be deleted, but the language flags of the parent record will not be updated. So you have to reload this frame to see them again.
Yes, I know: If I choose "delete" from ContextMenu of the translated record-icon, then a complete refresh will be initiated and we don't have this problem.

Can confirm this issue

#2 - 2016-05-05 17:34 - Riccardo De Contardi

- Target version changed from 7.6.3 to Candidate for Major Version

Still present even on 8.2-dev (latest master)

#3 - 2017-05-03 21:42 - Riccardo De Contardi

- Category changed from Localization to Backend User Interface

Still present in latest master

#4 - 2017-08-25 12:25 - Riccardo De Contardi

- Parent task set to #82206

#5 - 2019-03-17 18:59 - Riccardo De Contardi

I think it is still present on latest master; if I remember this issue is about the flag on the "Localize to" column in list view.

To reproduce it:

- 1) TYPO3 with at least two languages (default, and an attitional language)
- 2) create a page and translate it
- 3) create a content element and translate it
- 4) list view
- 5) delete the translated content element using the trash icon (not the context menu)

Results

on the "Localize to" column in list view no icon is present, as the page is not refreshed

Expected result

you should see a squared box with the flag of the alternative language

This is still reproducible on 10.4.0-dev (latest master)
