[BUGFIX] Disable "Create new translation headers" when no selection is made

The "Create new translation headers" is now disabled if no page to be translated is selected to avoid errors in the target action. A small TypeScript is added that unlocks the aforementioned button if at least one checkbox was selected.

Tymoteusz, I think that the problem is that you have to check what pages you want to translate before clicking that button, can you confirm?

There is a UX problem here: that button should be disabled until at least one checkbox is checked.
