[TASK] Move version selector view to EXT:compatibility7

The functionality for switching between versions and showing all versions of a record is available through the clickmenu when EXT:version, but not EXT:workspaces is installed.

It is only used on certain edge cases and therefor moved to EXT:compatibility7.

[BUGFIX] Remove legacy code for version extension

The "Display version" module of ext:version has been moved to ext:compatibility7 with v8. The list module links to this view but the link is dead if compat7 is not loaded. The v8 version of the patch now checks for "loaded version, loaded compat7, but not loaded workspaces" to render the link, in master, this button is removed entirely

Would somebody mind to put some information here?

#4 - 2017-02-22 09:58 - Benni Mack

Sure.

Based on a twitter poll and a core-team internal team check some months ago, as well as the fact that this module is not maintained by somebody anymore, I decided to move this to EXT:compatibility7 to use the workspaces view for publishing / versioning records.

The whole functionality - which is versioning itself - still stays in EXT:version, and can be extended by any third-party or e.g. EXT:workspaces.

If you think this is a bad idea, I could also imagine moving the view into a TER extension, which is maintained by the community and improved further, however feedback on this BE module was rather sparse the last 3 years.
