Description
If a multi checkbox field contains a . (dot) or & (ampersand) as value, the rendered form only shows a checkbox without label.

[BUGFIX] Fix multi-checkbox/radiobox labels for values containing dots

If checkbox/radiobox values contain dots, these are falsely evaluated as array lookup paths. Fix this by passing in separate path segments instead which may contain dots.

[BUGFIX] EXT:form - add compatibility for issue #82210

The fix for issue #82210 implies a breaking change within a minor release (template changes) and was never documented.

This bugfix adds some compatibility code for integrators who are using their own templates for RadioButton and/or MultiCheckbox form elements.

In addition, a deprecation warning is thrown and the corresponding rst file has been added.

A different patchset adds the appropriate breaking rst file for v9.

This change will result in empty labels if the partials are overwritten. Should commits like this really be part of a patch level version?

#26 - 2017-12-21 12:11 - Tobias Gaertner
Yea its kind of breaking change. If someone patches the minor release to 8.7.9 the form could break. The same happened wit version 8.7.8 - so I had to stay on 8.7.7
I mean fixing the template in this case is not too hard...but on a live system it could be very hard to spot this.

Please see and verify the fix in #83403
