Description

If using content menu in page tree to access: page editing, history/undo, access, export, import active page in page tree won't be changed correctly while taking actions with a page.

Leads to user confusion.

Active page in page tree should be switched while actions been taken with the page. Especially confusing while using "History/undo".

There are few things to consider

- 1) what record select when you close the edit page
- 2) page with the same uid can be in multiple mountpoints (uid is not enough to select an element)
- 3) change of this activity should be consistent throughout the backend, eg opening the site by favorites
