Description

When you keep a TYPO3 backend tab open for a long time and e.g. put your computer to standby the regular pings to keep the sesssion alive are no longer executed.

When the computer is resumed from standby an Exception is logged to sys_log:

Core: Exception handler (WEB): Uncaught TYPO3 Exception: #1425389455: Invalid request for route "/
ajax/system-information/render" | TYPO3\CMS\Backend\Routing\Exception\InvalidRequestTokenException thrown in file /typo3_src-8.7.18/typo3/sysext/backend/Classes/Http/RouteDispatcher.php in line 49.
Requested URL: https://www.example.org/typo3/index.php?ajaxID=%%2Fajax%%2Fsystem-information%%2Fre nder&ajaxToken=--AnonymizedToken--

Same same in TYPO3 v9.5.2

I'm not quite sure how the solution here should look like. You are reviving the computer from stand-by and are factually logged out - which the system should actually notice once you click anywhere. What would you expect to happen?

In this logged out state apparently ajax requests are sent which cause exceptions which are logged as errors to sys_log. Its okay the ajax calls fail but there should no exceptions be logged to sys_log

This occurs in 9.5 only, because the AjaxRequestHandler does not catch the InvalidRequestTokenException (like the normal RequestHandler does).
In 10, AjaxRequestHandler was removed and everything runs through RequestHandler.
