Description
Currently, TYPO3 widely makes use of jumpToUrl() which in fact does a simple redirect. In some cases, the call isn't even necessary, since  tags support the href nowadays.

[TASK] Deprecate jumpToUrl()

This patch deprecated the well-known `jumpToUrl()` function which simply does a redirect nowadays. Any occurence may be replaced by either using `window.location.href` or using simple `` tags.

[BUGFIX] Re-implement record deletion via EditDocumentController

The change of #89033 removed the callback for deleting records within EditDocumentController, resulting in JavaScript errors.

This patch adds the delete action again, directly implemented in the FormEngine module. The URL to delete the record is pre-built as well, since any required information is already known.

[BUGFIX] Remove jumpToUrl function in LinkBrowser

This patch backports the changes in AbstractLinkBrowserController which were added in patch #89033.

Before, the AbstractLinkBrowserController added a href=# and an onclick=jumpToUrl() which triggered JavaScript to switch tabs. In this patch, the onclick=jumpToUrl() function will be removed from a tab and complete url will be set to the tab instead.

The onclick=jumpToUrl() function caused problems when switching tabs while resources were loading.
