Description
The default configuration for header thumbnails of sys_file_reference records is width: 50, height: 50c which should result in a square image, where the height is cropped. But the result is an image respecting aspect ratio. This is due to the fact that the image processing was changed to IMAGE_PREVIEW, which only accepts integer values as width and height and also only these two options.

[BUGFIX] Properly render IRRE image thumbnail

Use IMAGECROPSCALEMASK to render IRRE thumbnails, so that the crop area is properly respected and the TCA configuration for the rendering is applied as well.

Also fix the resolving of the crop area, which remained undiscovered, as the crop configuration is ignored with IMAGEPREVIEW processing.
