Description

Hello,

if I create a new page in pagetree with help of drag and drop, I have to double click the new [no title] page to edit its page title. I have this behavior only for pages which initiate a new pagetree layer. For pages within an existing layer I can modify the page title directly, which is expected.

[BUGFIX] Assure page title editing when creating new pages

Using drag and drop, one can create new pages within the page tree. New pages can be created before, after or within existing pages. Currently, one could not provide a page title if the page was created within a page without subpages due to issues with unintended focus change after drag and drop.

It is now ensured that a page title can be edited directly after dragging a page into the page tree. Some cases are also covered by acceptance tests now.
