Description

The collapse/expand button in recordlist (the arrow-icon on the right) has no descriptive text (the title-attribute is not sufficient).

Also, for this functionality, a `<button>` should be used instead of `` as it is an interaction on the same page rather than opening a new page.

Recommendation

- Add a descriptive text for the button, for example by adding the alternative-attribute to the image or by using aria-label.
- Convert the link `` to a button.

[BUGFIX] Make recordlist collapse button accessible

A `<button>` tag is now being used instead of an `` tag as collapsing / expanding the tables is an interaction on the same page rather than opening a new one (`` tag had empty ``href`` attribute).

The button now also provides a proper aria-label with a descriptive text and gets the aria-expanded state initially set.

Furthermore the button now uses common styling to be directly recognized as such.
