[BUGFIX] Fix content element preview for menu types

With the introduction of fluid styled content in #79622, the former CType `menu` with its subtypes was splitted into dedicated content types. Since the content element preview was not adjusted, it still checked for the `menu` CType, which did not longer exist in Core, leading to no preview for any menu type was displayed in page module.

The issue is fixed by adjusting the code to check for the correct content types, making the preview work again.

This also replaces the last usages of LLL:EXT:lang.
