Description

FormEngine is able to request a reload of the current document, if a field with dependents is changed, e.g. CType. Currently, each of such fields has an onchange or onclick attribute, the latter for checkboxes, which either renders a modal to confirm the reload or saves the document and reloads the page, depending on the user's configuration.

In order to progress with the CSP efforts, the handling should get extracted.

[TASK] Replace FormEngine update request invocation

This patch adds a new LitElement that invokes the update request of FormEngine if a field's value with such configuration changes. This replaces the current approach of huge onchange/onclick attributes rendered per affected field.

A further patch will cleanup the necessity of TBE_EDITOR.fieldChanged().
